Munich, 10. December 2015 – Fleet control worldwide: Sixt Mobility Consulting has developed the innovative Global Reporting tool, which not only creates all-round transparency of a company’s internationally managed mobility solutions, but also gives a uniform overview of the related costs and reveals potential cost savings on a global level. The Global Reporting tool from Sixt Mobility Consulting is now available to all companies that are interested in the consistent compilation and efficient analysis of fleet data from a variety of different countries and sources. Find more information on Global Reporting at www.sixtglobalreporting.com.

The new reporting tool enables users to analyse many different aspects of their worldwide fleets and generate reports that are comprehensively adaptable to different company structures, reporting requirements and customary regional units. Fleet dashboards provide a rapid overview of global inventory and cost developments, and there is a wide range of alert functions that flag detected anomalies. A quality monitoring feature guarantees the reliability of data evaluation, and user-friendly filtering and selection possibilities allow data to be analysed in detail and uploaded to Excel with a single mouse click.

Uniform requirements for suppliers

The key to reliable data is a set of globally applicable requirements for the system (financing types, fuel types, engines etc.) and the clients (subsidiaries, business divisions, currency exchange rates etc.). The supplier portal provided for every customer can be operated intuitively and enables the respective customer's local service providers to upload their existing reports, offers them a one-off opportunity to explain their contents and assign them to the specified values. The smart system "memorises" these reports, checks the data for completeness and quality, and gives detailed feedback. The suppliers can then submit their subsequent reports on a monthly basis without hassle. The system checks the data, compares it with information from the preceding period and flags any anomalies.

The system gives a consistent, continuous overview of relevant areas such as vehicle procurement and replacement, the development of fleet costs and contractual agreements, adherence to compliance and safety regulations, and increasing or decreasing fuel consumption and CO₂ emissions.

Fleet Service Desk for support and supervision

Sixt Mobility Consulting guarantees uniform standards: the fleet management specialist trains data providers on the new system and sets up a so-called Fleet Service Desk for every client to support the client and his suppliers. When in operation, the system is also subject to continuous, strict plausibility monitoring. The new reporting system constitutes a vital part of Sixt Mobility Consulting's internationalisation strategy.

Sixt Global Reporting has already been acclaimed as a particularly innovative mobility solution: in the context of the Fleet Europe Awards, Sixt Mobility Consulting won the "International Fleet Industry Award 2015" for the new tool. The Fleet Europe Awards are the industry's most prodigious international prize.

Thomas Emmert, Managing Director of Sixt Mobility Consulting: "Sixt Mobility Consulting has developed the new Global Reporting system – the first all-round solution for a global analysis and control tool. All previous reporting systems of this kind have often failed because there was no uniformly defined understanding between client and supplier as to what information was required, so that the corresponding templates had to be created manually. Our Global Reporting makes the processes for collecting and evaluating data as easy and reliable as they can possibly be, which in turn provides a firm, reliable basis for efficient global fleet control.”
